Day 2: Temple of Beit El Wali and Temple of Abu Simbel

You will have an excellent breakfast in the morning while the boat heads to Aswan. Enjoy the rest of the day touring Aswan to see some monuments in the area, such as the Kalabsha Temple, an imposing construction from the early Roman period, built over the ruins of another, more ancient temple belonging to the gods Amun-Re and Khnum in the 18th Dynasty. Most of the things can be told through the city of Aswan regarding ancient architecture and spiritual beliefs on this full-day tour of Aswan.

Continue the tour of the Temple of Beit El Wali, the other imposing monument left to Ramses II. Consecrate your eyes with the colorful carvings depicting the military campaigns of the Pharaoh and the adoration of the gods that included Amun-Re. These Aswan tours will increase your awareness of the great history of this area with a strong cultural tradition that is still surviving.

Afternoon: The cruise starts to the famous Temple of Abu Simbel: enormous statues and an impressive façade, constructed for Ramses II and Queen Nefertari. En route at Wadi El Seboua, stop at an important archaeological site with several temples and sanctuaries among them, one very ancient one dedicated to the great god Khnum.

Then, return to the ship for an all-day tour in Aswan and a night of full leisure on board, getting your dinner prepared by chefs while cruising among the serene waters of Lake Nasser.

Day 3: Amada Temple and Wadi El Sebou Temples

Start your day with an onboard amazing breakfast before launching on some enthralling Egypt Day Tours into the magic of Nubia. First, visit the Wadi El Sebou Temples commissioned by Ramses II. Walk among the stunning structures and see brightly colored scenes depicting the king's exploits and the strong imagery of the gods.

Continue to the Amada Temple, one of the oldest, extremely well-preserved temples in Nubia, first built by Thutmose III and extended by Ramses II. It was consecrated to the great god Amon Ra, presenting some marvelous reliefs and inscriptions that give precious documentation about religious and cultural life in ancient Egypt This afternoon, return to the ship and enjoy some leisure time while you cruise along Lake Nasser's serene waters. Enjoy a gourmet dinner while reviewing the amazing sites you visited today on your Egypt Day Tours, reflecting on sophisticated dishes masterfully created by the chef.

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 4: Qasr Ibrim

Enjoy your day starting with a yummy breakfast buffet as you sail to Qasr Ibrim, one of the most historic sites in the world, housing magnificent monuments that represent almost every period in Egyptian civilization. Once a stronghold for the Nubians, Qasr Ibrim houses the tombs of Nubian rulers dating back to the times of Pharaoh Thutmose III. Although access to this site is limited, you will be able to appreciate its significance on board the ship while explaining its status as a cultural and religious site for the ages.

Later, sail deep into the impressive Abu Simbel, two of Egypt's most visited temples, and among the most famous monuments of the whole world. This fabulous complex consists of two temples hewn out of the rocky mountainside: the larger one was built by Pharaoh Ramses II. The temples were cut into the mountain face themselves and stand as testaments to his power and godlike status. The larger temple was dedicated to the king himself, with Ramses II portrayed as a god in the context of other gods: Amun, Ra-Horakhty, and Ptah. His beloved queen, Nefertari, along with the goddess Hathor, was given pride of place in the smaller temple.

The temples were built to commemorate one of Ramses II's greatest military victories-the Battle of Kadesh-and the colossal statues that stand guard before them are nothing if not the image of ancient Egypt's splendor. The temples had to be moved in the 1960s to save them from the building waters of Lake Nasser following the construction of the Aswan High Dam, an outstanding feat of modern engineering.

Following this visit to Abu Simbel, you will then return to the ship to some relaxation time: taking your time over lunch and dinner on board, reflecting on the fabulous history and architecture you have seen.
